参考范文

Every day, people throw away things they no longer need — old clothes, broken furniture, used bottles and packaging. Most of it ends up in landfills. But with a little creativity, many of these items can get a second life.

In my family, we love upcycling. Last month, my mother turned an old pair of jeans into a stylish tote bag. I used empty glass jars as pen holders and flower vases. My father even built a small bookshelf from wooden pallets he found near a construction site.

Recycling and upcycling not only reduce waste but also save money and spark creativity. Every old item has hidden potential — all it needs is a pair of hands willing to see the beauty in it.

Before you throw something away, stop and think: can this be turned into something useful? You might surprise yourself.

全文翻译

每天，人们扔掉不再需要的东西——旧衣服、坏家具、空瓶子和包装。大部分最终进入垃圾填埋场。但只要有一点创意，许多物品可以获得第二次生命。

在我家，我们喜欢"升级回收"。上个月，妈妈把一条旧牛仔裤改成了一个时尚的手提袋。我用空的玻璃罐当笔筒和花瓶。爸爸甚至用从工地旁找到的木托盘做了一个小书架。

回收和升级回收不仅减少垃圾，还能节省金钱和激发创造力。每一件旧物都有隐藏的潜力——它需要的只是一双愿意发现其中美丽的手。

在你扔掉东西之前，停下来想想：这能变成有用的东西吗？你可能会给自己一个惊喜。

升格建议（3条）

建议	普通表达	升格表达
问题	People throw away a lot of things.	Every day, perfectly useful objects are sentenced to landfills — their only crime is being replaced by something newer.
例子	Mum made a bag from old jeans.	In my mother's hands, a pair of faded jeans was reborn as a tote bag that gets more compliments than the original ever did.
看法	Recycling is good.	Trash is just treasure waiting for someone with enough imagination to rescue it.
